Reason(s) for the nomination

-Hadley is one of those students that I want to hold on to every art project she makes. Whether it be to place her artwork on display in the school, throughout the county, or for Tapestry...every project she makes is outstanding. One of her pieces will be at Tapestry, the county-wide art show for 2011-12 to represent Puckett's Mill Elementary. Being selected for this art show is an honor for which I am very proud of Hadley.

Hadley is a delight to have in class. She is a lovely young lady, who inspires everyone around her. Hadley is a quiet young lady, who pays deep attention during demonstrations and instruction time. Hadley has a light hand. The lines she draws look soft, and poetic, yet are intentionally placed as she fills the page using the principles of art ever so naturally and purposefully. Hadley understands unity, harmony, and balance, which she skillfully shows in all her compositions.

Puckett's Mill participated in Pinwheels for Peace this year, where every student in the school constructed a pinwheel that visually held their thoughts of peace. Student were also requested to write a short passage to express their thoughts about peace, as some would be selected to be readers at the installation of the pinwheels on September 21st, International World Peace Day. Hadley was selected to read - Peace means to me no war or violence and happiness in the world. Just showing the world you can make a difference, share and be kind to others. Keeping the world clean and really caring for it, because this is the only world we have. Everything Hadley does, she puts her heart into, and it shows!
